

6.1-magnitude quake hits Taiwan: CENC

BEIJING, April 18 (Xinhua) — A 6.1-magnitude earthquake jolted Hualien County in eastern Taiwan at 10:14 p.m. Sunday, according to the China Earthquake Networks Center (CENC).

The epicenter, with a depth of 5 km, was monitored at 23.94 degrees north latitude and 121.43 degrees east longitude, said the CENC.

(Web editor: Xian Jiangnan, Hongyu)

Source: <http://en.people.cn/n3/2021/0419/c90000-9840468.html>

[Disclaimer]