

Berlin Confirmed the Authenticity of Spied Recording of German Officers - WSJ

According to the Wall Street Journal, in the leaked conversation, the commander of the German Air Force indicated that Germany had the ability to take out the Kerch Bridge with Taurus missiles.

High-ranking German officials confirmed to The Wall Street Journal the authenticity of a military recording during an online meeting that took place on the commercial, unencrypted WebEx platform.

According to the WSJ, one of the officers joined the conversation from his mobile phone from a hotel room in Singapore.

At a secret online meeting, the German military discussed the possible supply of long-range Taurus missiles to Ukraine.

According to Bundeswehr officers, the weapons could be used to destroy the Kerch Bridge, which connects Russia with occupied Crimea and has been used to deliver weapons closer to Ukraine for Russia's ongoing invasion.
