

The new report of the world's most common pesticides harm the global bee population, confirmed