Greetings from Tyler,

Is there something else that could go wrong? If there is, don't tell me. Iran is feeling strong enough to attack Americans in eastern Syria. There have been retaliatory air strikes since the military figured out that Iran was responsible. Despite the pretender's best efforts, it looks like the Iranian Nuclear Deal might not be resurrected after all. Kirby says they were negotiating in bad faith. They probably knew that the pretender wanted to overturn everything Trump had done, no matter the cost.

Paris is drowning in trash. In protest of Macron raising the retirement age, there is some kind of strike. Maybe we ought to try that. Just not with the garbage piling up.

What's to be said about the war in Ukraine? "As long as it takes," is the line ringing in everybody's ears. But then a funny thing happened. If China has Russia's back, as now seems to be the case, Ukraine's not going to win the war. Period. How has this happened?

They're trying to tell us that everything is going to be electric. Soon. All the plans are in motion, and they're going to put us in electric cars or know the reason why. They want to destroy working electric power plants, so there's no going back. The people responsible for leading this country seem to be making all the wrong decisions. The media comes out straight faced to tell us how it's going to be. It's one disaster after another. Maybe that's the plan.

You've seen the disastrous release of information and documents that would bring down any administration under normal circumstances. But all the news is the NY District Attorney and the fervent hope that Donald Trump can be ruined. It seems like their plans for mug shots and fingerprints may have hit a glitch. The case relies on the testimony of one thoroughly discredited Michael Cohen.

Unfortunately Cohen's original lawyer has also testified before the grand jury, and says he (Cohen) would do anything, say anything to protect himself.

Suddenly, the D. A.'s office is in turmoil. Grand jury sessions have been canceled and there is "chaos" all around. It was a stretch in the first place. State prosecutors can't prosecute Federal crimes. The most respected legal minds have said this one is a loser. The D. A. probably knew that from the start, but couldn't resist the opportunity to become a national hero. Clearly, he's not.

The pretender doesn't seem to mind flirting with WWII. He and his son are in so much trouble, we'll never hear the end of it. He and his are going down no matter what, but how much damage can he do in the meantime? Can you imagine if one of Trump's sons had been hitching a ride on Air Force One, doing back room deals with America's enemies? It's now been proven beyond doubt that the current first family is in the pockets of some of our greatest enemies, and the mainstream doesn't care. They've been salivating all week, hoping Trump would be arrested.

If there is to be any justice, we'll have to wait. In the meantime, here's to rejecting everything the pretender mumbles.

Mark
