

Weekly Update by Mark Armstrong

- March 29, 2024

Greetings from Tyler,

Today is good Friday. Dad used to ask, "What's good about it?" The Christian world is set to face the East on account of Easter. If you read the encyclopedia entries on this subject, you'll realize that the whole thing jumps the bounds of logic. But that's why you just have to get with the program and "believe." We won't be having a sunrise service.

Speculation is all over the place on the Baltimore bridge collapse. Purported proof, one way or another hasn't shown up. We'll have to find out more. You mean, you can't steer the boat if the power goes out? You can watch the video, and have probably already seen it. This is not an inconsequential bridge. The problems haven't even been imagined yet. It better not have been anything but an accident.

War or no war, they're still trying to get Netanyahu. Something about the Supreme Court and religious types not wanting to serve. I thought it was bottles of champagne! Whatever happened to that case? We've seen nearly everything tried to get rid of Netanyahu. Even with the war ongoing, it's just too important to be postponed. Kind of reminds me of the continuous efforts to get Trump.

This Update probably should not be used to provide the latest on all the cases against you know who. Let's just privately watch as the Proverbs take their toll. There's already been off the chart embarrassment for his tormentors, and we haven't heard the last of it. They've got to be wondering about the wisdom of what they've undertaken.

The media touted it as a "show of force." Tickets cost from $500 to $500,000 dollars, and all your favorites were on display. Clinton, Obama, and Biden made nice for all to see. Everyone was there for one reason, and that was to make sure that Trump doesn't return to wreck all their lives. Maybe you've noticed, it's like Joe Biden is suddenly twenty years younger. He's everywhere. We're lucky we can't see behind the scenes.

Outside were a bunch of protesters in support of Gaza. This could emerge as a problem. Maybe the big money is on another term, but some percentage of Joe's support comes from these lunatics that are out waving "Palestinian" banners. We hear rumblings about a peacekeeping force in Gaza. Who's going to volunteer for that? Already UN facilities have been compromised, and a good job they did of keeping the peace! Are we to believe they had no idea Oct. 7 was coming? Apparently the pretender thinks he can dictate Israel's military posture, and is pretending he can! He better, or the crazy people won't come out and vote.

Alarms are being sounded about all the money raised and how far behind is his opponent. Trump is being forced to post bizarre sums of money on account of lawfare? Money that should have gone for the campaign is held up by legal niceties? Biden is promising to pay off student debt. How is that not illegal?

There's an old saying that if you shoot at the king, you'd better kill him. Please understand, I'm not making any suggestions. But Trump is alive and kicking. The mainstream media is trying to make a case for the pretender, but he ain't getting any younger! Whether he pumps his arms on the way to a pratfall or not. They've fired everything in their arsenal, hopefully.

There's a confession here. There's nothing in this world I'd rather see than Trump ruining their plans to wreck this country, already well along. I hope he takes stock, though he didn't the last time he had the chance.

The downfall of Sean Combs? Couldn't have happened to a nicer guy. Who knows what was transpiring behind the walls? Maybe this will be the beginning of the end for the rap industry. We can only hope.
